

GLANCE

The waterfall's long arc into a deep clear pool. The quiet sunrise, a split cedar trunk, summer rain's roof patter, green trees against a blue sky. Life's true beauty lies in nature's simplicity, yet design routinely rejects this idea, adding decoration to form and gimmicks to function.

With Glance, what you see is what you see. Clean, pure, unadorned form, pared down to its bare essence. A faucet. Its handles. Stripped of unnecessary detail, Glance leaves nothing but effortless function and natural beauty exposed.

JADO